side event, possible draft terms of reference for such a task force had been drawn up by IUCN.

5. The President noted that the language for this agenda item might have to be changed to match that of the Resolution on resource mobilization (DR7) that had been agreed at COP12.
6. Colombia, Denmark, Switzerland, Tunisia and the United States of America all expressed serious doubts about the Secretariat playing a major role in the establishment of a global partnership for wetland restoration as they believed this would place undue burden on its limited resources. They did not believe there was a mandate from the COP to create such a partnership and were concerned that the Standing Committee was discussing potential terms of reference that had resulted from a side event.
7. Colombia, Kenya and the United States of America agreed to lead an open-ended resource mobilization working group to review resource mobilization and the partnership framework and plan and report back to SC51. Any Standing Committee member could join this group which would work virtually, meeting once a year at the Standing Committee meetings.

Allocation of 2014 surplus funds

11. On a proposal from Switzerland it was agreed that in the first instance the budget surplus would be used for funding SC51. Any amount remaining after this would be placed under the control of the Subgroup on Finance. Any use for it proposed by the Secretariat would need the approval of the Subgroup.

Decision SC50-7: The Standing Committee agreed that the budget surplus of 2014 be used to fund SC51.
