

A big thanks to Rosemary Miller, Viv Mc Glynn, Bryan Williams, Nick Singers and Amy Hawcroft for guiding me around a few neat wetlands within the Wanganui-Manawatu Horizons boundaries. One of the highlights certainly was when Nick and I, as we were standing on the edge of a flax swamp, spotted a familiar (alas unfamiliar to most - as it is rare) grass; we looked at each other and said "this is it, isn't it? I knew the plant from my West Coast days, reminding me of our late colleague Phil Knightbridge: Deschampsia cespitosa. I understand from Nick that there are only two other sites where the plant is currently known from in the North Island. So a significant discovery! Hooray!

Warm regards to all
Philippe

Dr Philippe Gerbeaux

Senior Technical Support Officer / Ramsar STRP Oceania Regional Networker / Aquatic & Threats Unit / Research & Development Group / Department of Conservation

C/. Mahaanui Area Office, 31 Nga Mahi Road, Sockburn

or P.O. Box 11089 Christchurch 8443, New Zealand

Ph: 027 660 2465 (W) or VPN: 25 4953

Conservation for prosperity Tiakina te taiao, kia puawai

www.doc.govt.nz

