Information about Georgia and Adjara Autonomous Republic

Georgia is a country in the Caucasus region of Eurasia. Situated at the juncture of Western Asia and Eastern Europe, it is bounded to the west by the Black Sea, to the north by Russia, to the south by Turkey and Armenia, and to the east by Azerbaijan. Georgia covers a territory of 69,700 km<sup>2</sup> and its population is 4.7 million. Being a part of the Caucasian eco-region, Georgia is recognized as one of the “Hot Spots” of biodiversity (Conservation International). The Caucasus is among the 200 global eco-regions distinguished by WWF. The topographical complexity and climatic differences condition the diversity of landscapes and ecosystems of Eastern and Western Georgia.

Wetlands are one of the most common habitat types in Georgia. There are over 850 lakes, 25 075 River. Mires and peat lands are represented at various altitudes throughout the country. There are two main bird migratory routes crossing the Georgia. One of them goes through Kolkheti wetlands, another one through Javakheti Plateau. Kolkheti and Javakheti wetlands receive thousands of migratory birds every year in addition to numerous nesting water birds. Unique Kolkheti wetlands (The Anaklia-Churia, Nabada, Imnati mires, Ispani peat lands, swamp forests, dunes, lake Paliastomi and marine area) were designated as Ramsar sites in 1996. They are protected by Kolkheti National park (IUCN category II, total area 45 447,4 ha including marine area 15 743 ha), Kobuleti National Reserve (IUCN category I, total area 331,25 ha) and managed area (IUCN category IV, total area 438,75 ha).

Georgia has a very rich history reflected in its cultural heritage which the country is so proud of. There are 12 000 historical monuments in Georgia, 5 000 of them are protected by the Government and 4 of them are on the list of UNESCO World Heritage. These monuments are Mtskheta - ancient capital of Georgia, Gelati - architectural complex and Bagrati - cathedral in Kutaisi, and village Ushguli in Svaneti.

Kobuleti is a sea resort situated at the eastern coast of the Black Sea, 25 km from Batumi, the administrative centre of Adjara Autonomous Republic. Kobuleti is an important tourist centre on the Georgian Black Sea coast. The holiday-makers are particularly attracted by its famous long beach which is very convenient for sunbathing. Kobuleti has a beautiful seaside park, a lot of cafe-bars, bungalows and disco-clubs.

Batumi is a small, white city, with mostly 2-3-storey buildings, possessing a certain unique charm. The part of the city called “Old Batumi” is nearly 150 years old. This pretty city, permeated with the aroma of the sea, magnolias and acacias, is attractive and fascinating all year round.

SC41 Official Excursion

On Wednesday 28 April, the Protected Areas Agency of the Ministry of Environment Protection and Natural Resources of Georgia is offering to the SC41 participants a one-day boat tour in Kolkheti National Park. The itinerary/destination may be changed dependent on the weather conditions.

The length of tour is 18 km. Direction: Paliastomi entrance boating along South, East, North banks of Lake Paliastomi and return to Paliastomi entrance. Participants will be able to observe: the magnificent scenery of Lake Paliastomi and its swampy banks, a scenic view of the Pichori mouth area, the wet meadows on the east bank of the lake. From the east bank of the lake and the mooring and resting place designed at the mouth of Pichori visitors can observe the sphagnum surface of the Imnati peat bog developed along the bank of the lake and swamp alder-tree forests spread in the north part of the bog.

Kolkheti National Park is located in West Georgia. It covers the eastern zone of the Black Sea coast and the basin of the Paliastomi Lake. Kolkheti National Park covers an area with extensive and unique mires that form a structural and functional transition between the mires of the boreal and those of the tropical zones. Due to its refuge function for European flora during the last Ice Ages, Kolkheti harbors – next to Tertiary relicts – Mediterranean and boreal plant species. With its endemic wetland species and the globally unique Sphagnum percolation bogs, Kolkheti is a hotspot of mire biodiversity.

The world-wide significance of the Kolkheti wetlands was acknowledged in 1996 when Georgia joined the Convention on Wetlands and Central Kolkheti was designated as a Wetland of International Importance.

The Kolkheti lowlands have supported humans for thousands of years. The ancient Greeks established trading posts here more than 300 years ago. The famous story of Jason and his crew of Argonauts seeking a golden fleece comes from this area at that time.

Lunch will be provided during the excursion.

Pre- and post-conference excursions

The Tourism Department of Adjara will provide an information desk at the meeting venue and will assist participants organize excursions.

Participants can also organize tours in Georgia themselves. Please find information about Georgian tour-operators in annex 2.
